Preparing for Blog Tour Storm

"Life...it consists mainly of the storm of thoughts that is forever flowing through one's head." ~ Mark Twain

Good Morning! I am preparing for tomorrow's blog -- a special interview with best selling author Mara Purl. Many of you may remember our blogs about What the Heart Knows, book one of the Milford-Haven series. We are so excited that Mara's promotions company contacted us a few weeks ago to request that All Things Fulfilling be part of her blog tour again for her 2nd book Where the Heart Lives. An astounding 17 million readers followed All Things Fulfilling and the other blogs that participated in the blog tour for book one.

If you missed out, here are links to our previous blogs about Mara Purl as a published author of her Milford Haven series.

Mara's book one What the Heart Knows is an Amazon best-seller (ranked #5) and a finalist for the Book of the Year Award. Her prequel short story When Hummers Dream (also a best seller) was nominated for the Global e-book award.

Please return tomorrow. Mara is guaranteed to have some interesting things to say about book two Where the Heart Lives. As a former soap opera actress who played the part of Darla Cook, R.N. on Days of Our Lives, Mara is well versed in telling and writing award-winning stories that reach hearts of her readers.
